Communication skills

- I acquired good communication and public speech skills through my experience as a teacher and trainer, and also thanks to the numerous regional, national and international conferences and seminars that I attended, on topics like history, education and project management.

- I am the leader of a youth organization and I coordinated teams of adults and young people, and I was trainer, youth leader in numerous projects and this way I improved my public speaking and communication abilities.

Organisational / managerial skills

- Leadership skills: I coordinated groups of people as project manager, projects and programmes coordinator and president of Imago Mundi Youth Association that currently has 30 active volunteers that I coordinate. I motivated people to get involved as volunteers in different initiatives and created strong and functional teams.

- I am a good organizer and I have experience in team and project management.

Job-related skills

I have teaching and training experience. I am an experienced History Teacher and Youth Worker. Next to my tasks as a Teacher, I was always involved in the school management, either as member of the Council Board or as president of Teachers Commissions, Educational Projects and Programmes Coordinator. Between September 2012 - June 2013, I was Grundtvig Assistant at Hellenic Culture Centre in Athens, I was trainer on intercultural education, Greek Culture and Civilisation and Educational Management for learners from all of Europe.

Between June 2014 - June 2016, I was trainer for the Network of Trainers for the Erasmus+ programme and I improved my skills as trainer and facilitator.

I have project management and leadership abilities. I was project manager and youth coach in educational projects for young people from the county of Arges, on themes such as the environment, creativity and poetry, volunteering, prevention of discrimination, personal development, awareness campaigns on youth unemployment. I coordinated various extracurricular activities related to History or just non-formal activities on different topics aimed at contributing to the youth's personal development. I did all these activities out of passion and with the belief that these are experiences that will contribute to my personal and professional development, and indeed this was the result!!

- I have Intercultural skills thanks to the fact that I worked and interacted with people from different cultures. In the last years I attended several training courses that gave me the chance to meet people from all over Europe. Then in 2010 for six months I did an internship in France and met people from all over the world (Japan, United States, Pakistan, South Korea, China, United Kingdom, Russia) and coordinated international volunteers work camps and intercultural activities. In 2010 I was part of a group of authors for the Respecting Diversity Toolkit - part of a British Council Romania project, and I worked on developing tools for NGOs and youth workers to fight discrimination.

Between 2014 - 2016, I held training courses for EVS volunteers in Romania and as such I was constantly in direct contact with people from numerous countries from Europe and across the globe.

- I have mediating skills: I learned to mediate conflicts being involved in various projects and activities, some of them involving large groups of people. I am open minded, willing to learn from others and acquire new experiences and abilities.

- I love to travel and experience different cultures, to get in touch all the time with new people, to learn from others and share our experiences.

Computer skills

Microsoft Office 2007 and some knowledge's on Corel Draw.

- Educational software.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

- I keep a personal website, <http://costindedu.com>, that I update with information on my current projects, activities and hobbies as well as opportunities for funding projects, internship and youth initiatives.

- I was part of the team that wrote Respecting Diversity (Toolkit for Youth practitioners in the field of diversity), British Council Romania, 2010. <https://www.britishcouncil.ro/programe/societate/respect-diversitate> .

- As part of various projects I was co-author of guides and curriculum on human rights, non-formal education, rural isolation, social justice, etc.
